

If you're not part of
the solution,
you're part
of the problem.

The fight against Dengue goes beyond lip service; it needs action. Research has shown that more than 70%* of breeding grounds for the dreaded Aedes are found within the compounds of residential homes. It is essential for you to take the time and effort to destroy all breeding grounds. Selfish attitudes can bring harm to your family and neighbours.

So, be responsible. Act today to ensure a compound that's clean and safe. Discard styrofoam containers, bottles, plastic bags, old tyres, flower pots and plates or any object that can hold water for days. Tie your rubbish in a bag and dispose it properly.
